Anodising quality J57S[®]

Warranty

1. GENERAL REMARKS

Novelis Deutschland will only take responsibility for defects caused by its own production and liability is subject to the following conditions which are supplemented by Novelis' general terms of delivery and payment.

However, should any mechanical or metallurgical defects become visible during production, any further processing must be stopped immediately and Novelis informed accordingly.

2. MECHANICAL SURFACE DEFECTS

Novelis Deutschland will refund the processing costs incurred in processing the sheets if these have been found to have surface defects such as scratches, scoreline and roll-marks which have been caused through Novelis' negligence.

Any cost will only be reimbursed up to the earliest process step during which the defects are detectable. Detection will be possible at the latest after the removal of the Novelis logo protective film.

The assessment of the anodised material will be in accordance with industry standards.

Please refer to the "Processing notes for achieving optimum colour uniformity".

Full traceability with reference to Novelis' batch numbers must be maintained throughout processing.

Without traceability we can not accept any claims after anodising.

3. METALLURGICAL DEFECTS

Before starting the anodising process it is essential to visually inspect the panels – see item 2.

If surface defects or colour deviations occur after anodising, despite adherence to the "Processing Guidelines", and these defects arise from the material itself, Novelis Deutschland will refund the manufacturing costs (until anodising) and the anodising costs incurred up to the earliest point at which the defect was first detectable.

4. ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION

In addition to the costs arising from the mechanical or metallurgical surface defects as mentioned in items 2 and 3, Novelis Deutschland will also replace the sheets in the event of a justifiable complaint.

Novelis Deutschland will not refund any further costs such as penalties due to late delivery, lost profit, lost production, replacement purchases or other expenses.
